INTRODUCING A NEW SERIES FROM QUIRK FOR AGES 4 TO 8!

The Princess in Black meets Monsters, Inc. in this whimsical, zany illustrated early chapter book series about an unlikely friendship between a glittery monster, Zoomi, and her new imaginary friend—a human named Zoe. This topsy-turvy series will gently explore life's first big transitions—like friends moving away, new siblings, and the loss of a pet—with humor, heart, and magic.

In Zoomi and Zoe and the Tricky Turnaround (June 2025), Zoomi and Zoe each navigate tricky friendship dynamics as old friends move away and they get to know each other in this new world.

In Zoomi and Zoe and the Sibling Situation (August 2025), there are more changes for the new friends: Zoe is going to be a big sister, and Zoomi's family is welcoming a new baby, too!

COREY ANN HAYDU is the author of many critically acclaimed middle grade and young adult novels, including Eventown, Lawless Spaces, Ever Cursed, and One Jar of Magic. She is also the author of the Hand-Me-Down Magic chapter book series and the upcoming picture book A Place for Feelings. Corey is a graduate of NYU's Tisch School of the Arts and The New School's Writing for Children MFA program, and a faculty member of the Vermont College of Fine Arts' MFA in Writing for Children and Young Adults program. She lives in Brooklyn with her husband and two young daughters.

ANNE APPERT is a storyteller who uses whimsy and humor to inspire and connect with readers on their own journeys toward becoming their most authentic selves. Anne went to the Fashion Institute of Technology for a BFA in illustration with a minor in English so they could bring their stories to life. Their first book was Blob, a picture book about being yourself. Their second book, What If You Wish?, is a picture book about the power of perseverance and wonder. Anne hopes to inspire all kids through fun and imaginative storytelling to dream big and love themselves. You can visit Anne at anneappert.com.

There was one thing Zoomi loved: parties. And there was one place Zoomi didn't want to be: Moo's party. Not because Zoomi didn't like Moo. In fact, Zoomi loved Moo. Moo was Zoomi's best friend. Which is exactly why Zoomi didn't want to be at his going away party. There were starcakes and a cloud house and dinosaur rides. But Zoomi would give up a hundred dinosaur rides if it meant Moo could stay.

"I can't stay," Moo said when Zoomi asked for the fifty-third time. They were eating starcakes while waiting for their turn to go down the rainbow mud slide. "We have a new home now. Three hours away."

Zoomi didn't know much about hours, but three sounded like too many. And she could not think of anywhere better than Moo's cave, where he lived now. Except for maybe Doug's bubble palace. Or Izly's treetop home. Or Zoomi's own invisible castle. But Moo's parents had found some other cave in some other place, far away from Zoomi.

Zoomi and Zoe and the Tricky Turnaround

By Corey Ann Haydu, illustrated by Anne Appert

Zoe loves routine, her stuffed rhino Zoomi, and her best friend Kyla. When Kyla moves away, Zoe feels alone. Until somehow, she's transported to a magical new world with just one sort-of-familiar face: Zoomi, who is suddenly very much real.

Zoomi loves adventure, zooming, and her best friend Moo. In her world, life is full of happy surprises, but one ritual is certain: when something hard happens, she'll have Tricky Turnaround. And when she does, a Happy Helpful Human from the "real" world will arrive to help her through it.

But when Zoe arrives, she doesn't seem very happy. Or helpful. Or interested in the party Zoomi threw for her—complete with toothbrushes and a rainbow mud slide. In fact, Zoe may be navigating a Tricky Turnaround of her own. Can Zoomi and Zoe come together to help each other with the trickier parts of growing up, like saying goodbye to friends and making new ones?

Keep an eye out for book two, The Sibling Situation, launching in August 2025!

Zoomi and Zoe and the Sibling Situation

By Corey Ann Haydu, illustrated by Anne Appert

The second book in the series brings more changes for the new friends: Zoomi and Zoe are both going to be big siblings!

Zoomi and Zoe were proud to conquer their first Tricky Turnaround together . . . but the transitions keep coming! This time, Zoomi's mom brings home a new baby, who is—in Zoomi's humble opinion—very boring, and kind of rude. Meanwhile, Zoe's dads have a wonderful surprise: Zoe is going to be a big sister, too! But Zoe's new brother doesn't seem to like her very much. Why does he keep crying when Zoe is around?

Fortunately, Zoomi and Zoe have a plan: Baby School! With help from Izly and Doug, these unlikely friends are positive they can teach their new siblings how to be better babies—starting with how to sing the alpha-bing, and how to appreciate their big sisters. But teaching Baby School isn't as easy as it sounds. Can Zoomi and Zoe come to terms with the changes in their families, and even learn a thing or two about these loud, smelly creatures along the way?

Enter through the Pineapple Portal to join Zoomi and Zoe in their second adventure, and keep an eye out for the other books in this zany, hilarious new series for emerging readers: The Tricky Turnaround (book one), and a third title releasing in 2026!

A Spoonful of Time

By Flora Ahn

“Full of twists, this middle grade story is a heartwarming mix of food and family.”—Kirkus Reviews

When You Reach Me meets Love Sugar Magic in this unforgettable middle grade novel where time travel, family recipes, and family secrets collide.

Maya’s grandmother, Halmunee, may be losing her memory, but she hasn’t lost her magic touch in the kitchen. When she serves salty miyeok-guk or sweet songpyeon, her stories about Korea come to life for Maya.

Then one day, something extraordinary happens: one delicious bite transports Maya and Halmunee into one of Halmunee’s memories. Suddenly they’re in Seoul, and Halmunee is young.

This is just the first of many secrets Maya will uncover: that she and her grandmother can travel through time. As Maya eats her way through the past, her questions multiply—until a shocking discovery transforms everything she thought she knew about family, friendship, loss, and time itself.

Brimming with heart and interspersed with seven family recipes that readers can make themselves, this is a story to savor by rising Korean American author Flora Ahn.

A Brush with Magic

By Flora Ahn

“Fantastical elements are seamlessly woven into this engaging, entertaining story. . . . A universal coming-of-age tale becomes extraordinary through an encounter with Korean folk magic.”—Kirkus Reviews, ★ starred review

A heartfelt, magical middle grade adventure—inspired by Korean folklore and set in modern-day Seoul—about sisterhood and belonging, perfect for fans of Kelly Yang and Janae Marks.

It’s finally summer break, and twelve-year-old Yumi is headed to Korea with her older sister, Minji, for the very first time. She can’t wait to explore the city of Seoul together—but Minji has other plans. The moment they land, Minji ditches Yumi to hang out with their cousins, who are more fashionable, better at soccer, and all-around cooler than Yumi. Lost and alone, Yumi is stuck at home painting with her grandfather.

Everything changes when she finds an intriguing ink brush in a neighborhood art shop—and she accidentally summons a creature straight out of her grandfather’s retellings of Korean fairy tales. With a new friend by her side and an ink brush that has the power to bring anything she paints to life, Yumi feels unstoppable. From bustling street markets and ancient palaces to riding the subway, Yumi and her friend explore everything Seoul has to offer.

But as the consequences of this newfound power come home to roost, Yumi must find the strength to embrace who she is and speak up for herself—before she loses everything and everyone she loves.

“No!” said Nick. “No, no, no!”

Despite the bungled launch, the rocket was flying faster and higher than they ever could have hoped. Which was the problem. Instead of going straight up and coming straight down, the bottle, weighted down by its unintended cargo, was arcing to the right. As it plummeted to earth again, it was headed for the trees on the edge of the field.

Nick started running after it. “If it lands in the top branches we’ll never get it down!”

“Don’t freak out,” Tesla grumbled. She took a quick test-sniff of her hair and grimaced. “It’s not going fast enough to go as far as . . . oh.”

The rocket zipped over the trees and landed with a little hollow thud on the wrong side of the tall fence surrounding the Old Whoever Place.

“Oh, no,” Nick moaned as he trotted up to the fence. He put his hands on the crisscrossing wires and stared forlornly at the Albert and Martha Holt. “Should I climb over and get it?”

“Go for it,” Tesla said. “And for the next launch, you get to pour the stink-water into the . . . Nick, look out!”

The great outdoors is a weird, wonderful, and scare-your-pants-off terrifying place. Whether you're freezing in the Arctic, escaping quicksand in the jungle, or befriending tarantulas in the desert, this guide has you covered. (Figuratively, not literally. We didn't have the budget for a blanket-sized book.)

Bust this guide open and discover step-by-step instructions for surviving the most extreme situations that Planet Earth can throw at you. Learn how to:

- Dodge a charging rhinoceros
- Ride out a sandstorm
- Navigate by the stars
- Build a snow cave
- Cross piranha-infested waters
- And much more!

Yeah, the outdoors can be scary, but you've got this indispensable, laugh-out-loud survival guide. So what are you waiting for? Get out there!

DAVE BORGENICHT, is the coauthor of all the books in the Worst-Case Scenario Survival Handbook series and the founder of Quirk Books. He knows how to float on quicksand, jump from a moving car, and properly groom a gorilla. He lives in Philadelphia.

JUSTIN HEIMBERG defines the word extreme. He is extremely cautious and wary. He is an extreme sleeper and an extreme television watcher. On the rare occasion when Justin is not being extreme, he writes books and films. He lives in an extreme suburb in Maryland.

WENKE KRAMP is an illustrator from Berlin, Germany.

The best-selling (and wildly hilarious) Worst-Case Scenario series is back with 40 extreme survival tips for kids ages 8 to 12, great for adventurous fans of the I Survived series.

Girls Resist!

A Guide to Activism, Leadership, and Starting a Revolution

By KaeLyn Rich

Girls Resist! is a stylish, relevant, timely activism handbook that speaks to teen girl readers like the intelligent and passionate people they are. In this age of political teen bloggers and young adult celebrities frankly discussing topics like sexism and racism, young women are more engaged, excited, and fired up than ever—but they also need guidance. Globally-relevant topics not tied to any one country's political system will include picking a cause, fundraising, networking, and protesting. Plenty of space will be devoted to teen-specific topics like having tough talks with unsupportive family members, campaigning for representatives when you're too young to vote, and best practices for being effective (and safe!) while raising awareness on social media. Plus, an attractive design will make this as much a self-purchase as a gift, fitting perfectly between magazines and YA novels on a teen girl's shelf.

KAELYN RICH is a staff writer for popular queer women's website Autostraddle.com. A queer feminist, direct action organizer, and sexuality educator, she is the Assistant Advocacy Director of the American Civil Liberties Union of New York and the former community affairs coordinator for Planned Parenthood of Central and Western New York. She lives with her spouse, their new baby, and a house full of pets.

Lycanthropy and Other Chronic Illnesses

By Kristen O'Neal

Teen Wolf meets Emergency Contact in this sharply observed, hilarious, and heartwarming debut young adult novel about friendship, chronic illness, and . . . werewolves.

Priya worked hard to pursue her medical school dreams at Standord, but a diagnosis of Lyme disease during her sophomore year sends her back to her loving but overbearing family in New Jersey—and leaves her wondering if she'll ever be able to return to the way things were. Thankfully she has her online pen pal, Brigid, and the rest of the members of "oof ouch my bones," a virtual support group that meeets on Discord to crack jokes and vent about their own chronic illnesses.

When Brigid suddenly goes offline, Priya does something out of character: she steals the family car and drives to Pennsylvania to check on Brigid. Priya isn't sure what to expect, but it isn't the horrifying creature that's shut in the basement. With Brigid nowhere to be found, Priya begins to puzzle together an impossible but obvious truth: the creature might be a werewolf—and the werewolf might be Brigid. As Brigid's unique condition worsens, their friendship will be deepened and challenged in unexpected ways, forcing them to reckon with their own ideas of what it means to be normal.

"Emotional, thoughtful, and a true testament to the power of friendship, Lycanthropy and Other Chronic Illnesses is a werewolf novel that will make you look at navigating illness, supernatural or not, in a whole new way. . . ."

—Locus Magazine

"A funny, heartfelt book with a phenomenal premise."
